Overview:

The United States' health care delivery system is undergoing an unprecedented transformation and experiencing a fundamental shift in how care is delivered and paid for in this country. In light of this shift, hospitals and health care systems across the country are looking to transform their organizations. Among the many areas of change, organizations are increasingly focusing their attention on quality, patient safety and patient experience.

While most hospital and health system boards recognize the importance of quality oversight in fulfilling their fiduciary and governance responsibilities, recognizing this responsibility and being comfortable in carrying it out are two very different experiences. Determining how best to leverage board assets in quality oversight, and the distinction between governance and management are common concerns. Our speakers will walk you through what board members need to know about these mission-critical responsibilities, and how creative boards are responding to the rising challenges.

This webinar will focus on providing practical suggestions and straightforward ideas to enhance your board's effectiveness in this area. No matter where your board currently is on its journey, this webinar will have something for you.

Learning Objectives:

At the conclusion of this session, participants will be able to:

1. Discuss the importance of patient experience as a part of quality oversight.
2. Identify what to look for in a board-level quality dashboard.
3. Explain why some boards choose to have a quality committee while others work as a "committee of the whole."
4. Discuss the importance of effectively engaging physicians in the board's quality oversight journey.
5. Give examples of where to look for new board members who can add quality oversight expertise to the board.
6. List quality-related questions boards should be asking.
7. Identify when to drill deeper into quality metrics and when it's okay to rely on the expertise of staff.
