

SEPTEMBER LEARNING SERIES

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

FREE TRAINING FOR EMPLOYERS

September is National Workforce Development Month—and we're offering training that can transform the workplace. Join us for this three-part learning series to explore the origins and impacts of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs), how they may affect your workplace, and how to obtain information and assistance. You'll also discover how becoming a trauma-informed organization can help employees and boost your bottom line.

This series will help you:

- Identify the impact of ACEs in the workforce.
- Explore protective factors within the workplace that may mitigate the impact and intergenerational transmission of ACEs.
- Learn the four key assumptions underlying a trauma-informed approach
- Explore the six key principles of a trauma-informed approach
- Recognize the impact of trauma
- Identify practical strategies for building individual and collective resiliency
