

HEALTH CARE LEADERSHIP ESSENTIALS PROGRAM

Tomorrow's leadership challenge is developing leaders today!

Healthcare leaders don't just appear by chance - they are nurtured and developed over time. Many organizations are experiencing a shortage in leadership talent due to a variety of reasons. While there are no quick fixes, realizing tomorrow's health care leaders are people within your own organization who inspire their colleagues with integrity, empathy and a strong knowledge base of the current work is a great place to start. Therefore, developing engaged staff in leadership best practices, is essential in every health care department.

SDAHO is dedicated to the continued professional growth of all its members and has developed a Health Care Leadership mini course starting with 3 key areas: communication, finance, and human resources.
